

WHAT PARENTS SAY?

A QUALITATIVE DESCRIPTION ON PARENTS' PERSPECTIVE ABOUT FAMILY CONFLICT AND COMMUNICATION DURING EMERGING ADULTHOOD IN SPAIN AND PORTUGAL

García-Mendoza, M. C<sup>1.</sup>, Parra, A<sup>1.</sup>, Coimbra, S<sup>2.</sup>, & Sánchez-Queija, I<sup>1.</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Department of Developmental and Educational Psychology. Universidad de Sevilla, España

<sup>2</sup>Department of Psychology. Universidade do Porto, Portugal

The funding was provided by the project Factores de Riesgo y Protección en la Adulthood Emergente. Un Estudio Longitudinal-Secuencial supported by grant from the Junta de Andalucía (PROYEXCEL_00766). This work also was supported by grant from the Spanish Ministry of Universities, Spain's recovery and resilience plan and European Regional Development Fund –NextGenerationEU.

CIPE 2023

XI Congreso Internacional de Psicología y Educación

Bienestar psicológico y digitalización: el gran reto de la Psicología hoy

VALENCIA | 26 – 28 junio 2023

1. INTRODUCTION

FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS DURING EMERGING ADULthood

EMERGING ADULthood:
new stage of development situated between adolescence and adulthood
-18 to 29 years old-in Western, postindustrial societies
(Arnett, 2000, 2014).

- By definition, emerging adults are no longer adolescents but have not yet completely reached adulthood because of the delay in the assumption of adult roles (e.g., being a parent or mother, financial or housing independence) (Arnett, 2007).
- This period of life is characterized by feeling “in-between”, instability and possibilities (Arnett, 2014).
- This stage is defined by the socio-cultural characteristics of the context in which it takes place (Arnett & Padilla-Walker, 2015; Zhong & Arnett, 2014).

1. INTRODUCTION

FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS DURING EMERGING ADULTHOOD

CONFLICT:

negative interactions (e.g., disagreements or disputes) between parents and children
(Laursen & Collins, 2009).

- Previous research has found a low-medium level of family conflict reported by emerging adults (Kumar & Mattanah, 2018) and their parents (Fang et al., 2021).
- Moreover, during this stage, there is a decrease in conflictual parent-child relationships perceived by both, parents (Whiteman et al., 2011) and offspring (Parra et al., 2015), compared with adolescents.
- Nevertheless, some topics usually still provoke conflict such as family issues (Yao et al., 2020), making decisions and accepting responsibility (Riesch et al., 2003; Renk et al., 2007), household rules, peer issues or school issues (Renk et al., 2007).

1. INTRODUCTION

FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS DURING EMERGING ADULTHOOD

COMMUNICATION:
verbal and nonverbal
interaction between parents and children within a family system (Munz, 2015).

- Some authors found a lower level of communication reported by emerging adult offspring in comparison with younger children (Parra et al., 2015).
- However, other studies indicated an increase in general closeness, including communication, in parent-child relationships during this stage. Specifically, the conversational quality between parents and offspring emerging adults is marked by openness, comfort, affection (Morgan, 2008), and appreciation/respect for parents (Lefkowitz, 2005).
- Empirical results suggest that communication between emerging adults and their parents tends to include themes such as romantic relationships (Morgan et al., 2010) or sexuality (Pariera & Brody, 2018).

1. INTRODUCTION

SOUTH EUROPEAN FAMILY CONTEXT

- Family conflict and communication patterns and themes differ in function of socio-cultural context:

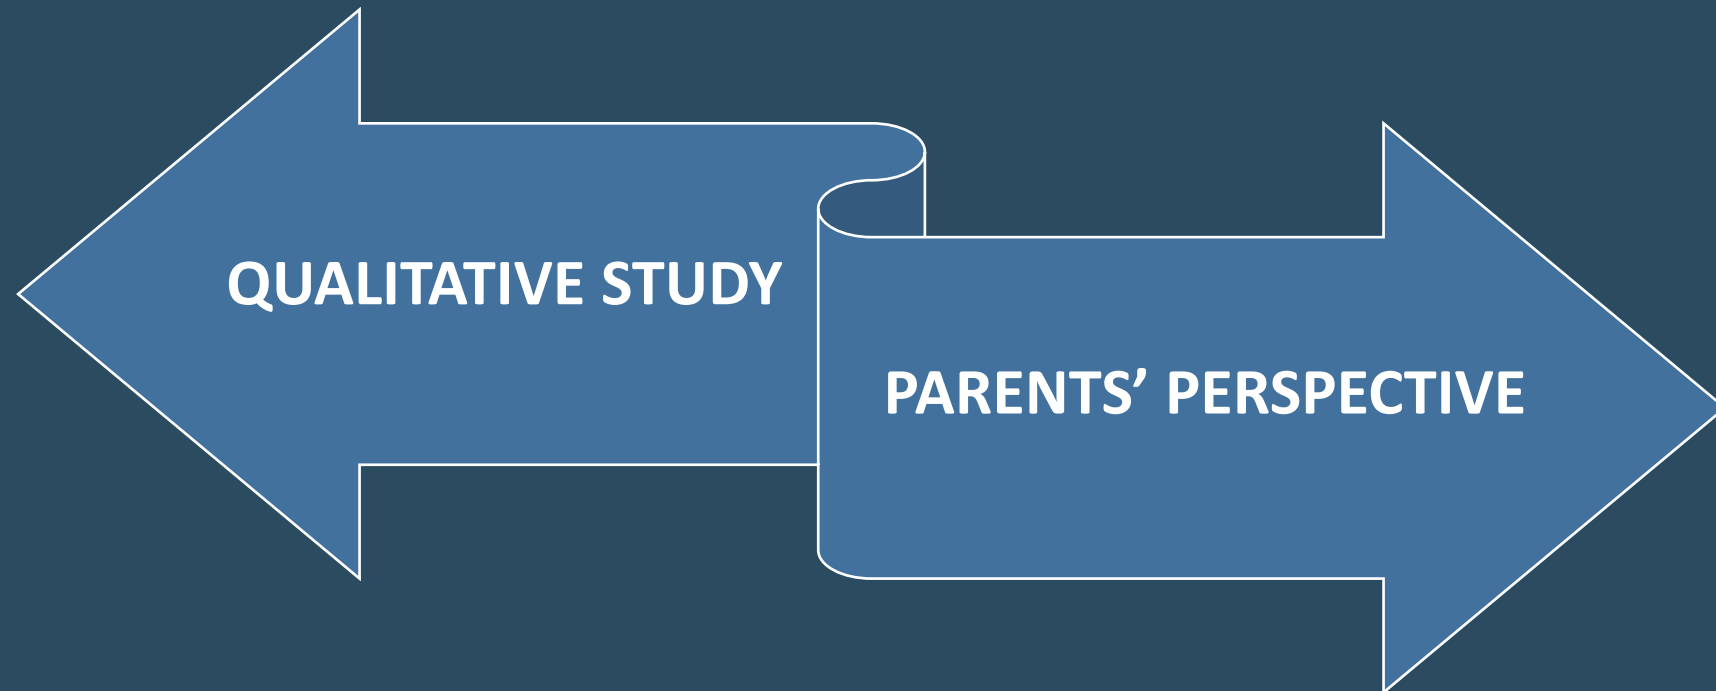

- Most studies focused on these family processes during this life stage were implemented in the United States and Northern Europe.
- Southern European countries, such as Spain and Portugal, may present quite different patterns, considering some of its specific features such as close family ties and late offspring emancipation, generally around 30 years old, to marry or to live with a romantic partner (Alesina & Giuliano, 2013).

1. INTRODUCTION

➤ AIMS:

The main aim of this study was to qualitatively describe family conflict and communication during emerging adulthood, from the perspective of parents, mothers and fathers, from two southern European countries, Spain and Portugal.

2. METHOD

CIPE2023
XI Congreso Internacional
de Psicología y Educación
Bienestar psicológico y digitalización: el gran reto de la Psicología hoy

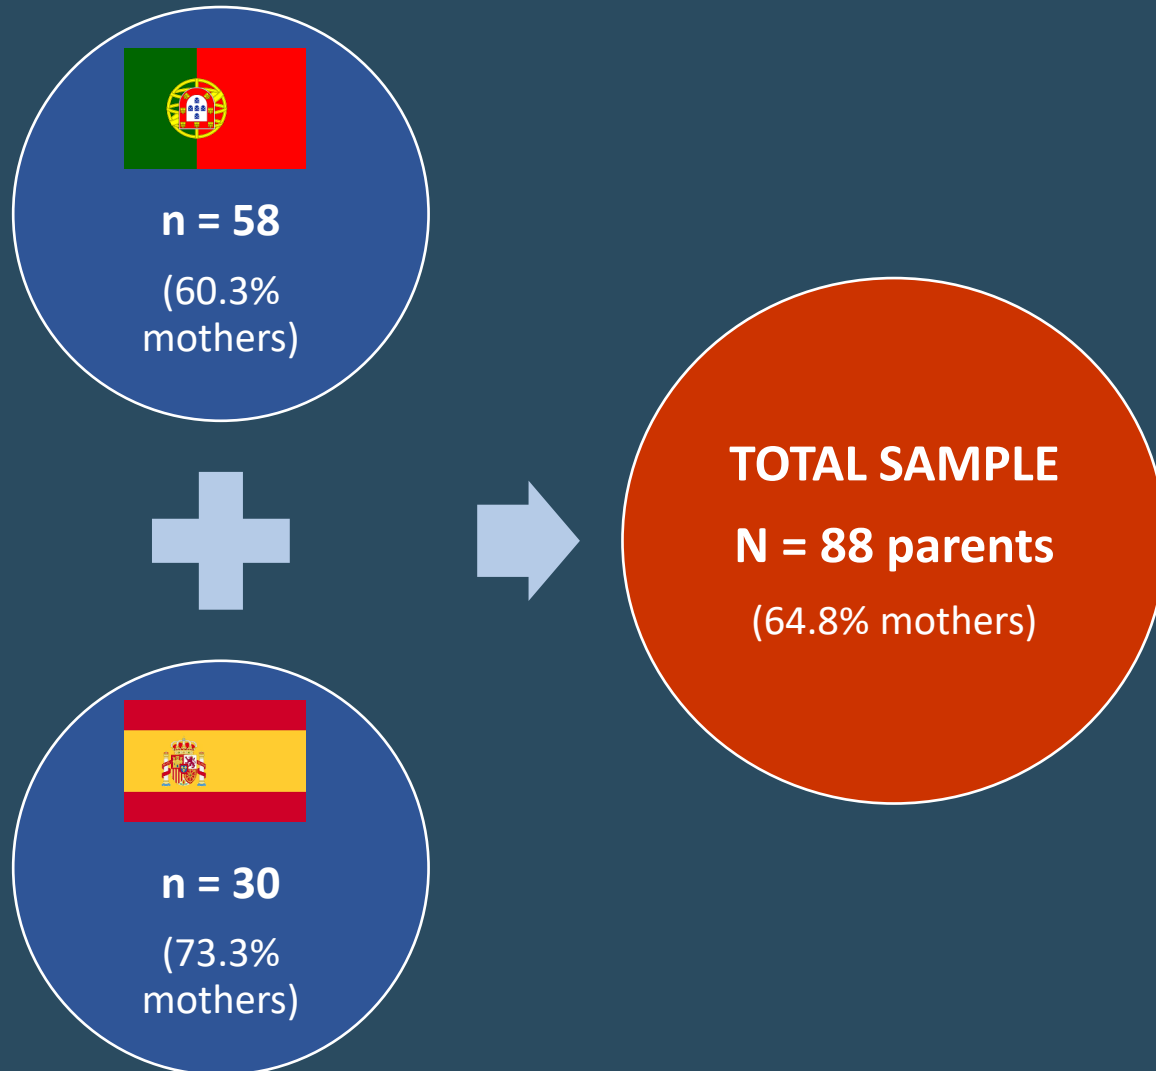

This study is part of a transcultural project between Spain and Portugal called “Transição para a adultez e relações familiares em Portugal e ajustamento psicológico: Investigação intercultural entre Espanha e Portugal”.

The Project was approved by the relevant institutional ethics committee: “A Comissão de Ética (CE) da Faculdade de Psicologia e de Ciências da Educação da Universidade do Porto” ( Ref.<sup>a</sup> 2017/10-02c and Ref.<sup>a</sup> 2017/10-02c).

2. METHOD

➤ PARTICIPANTS:

- The total sample was comprised of 88 parents (64.8% mothers) of emerging adults who studied at two universities from Southern Europe and who formed part of the transnational project between Spain and Portugal.
- Data was collected from April 2022 to November 2022.

2. METHOD

➤ PROCEDURE OF DATA COLLECTION AND INSTRUMENT :

- All participants signed an informed consent form and anonymously and voluntarily answered online to a qualitative open-ended questions in Spanish or in Portuguese languages (~10min).

- The survey included a close-ended question about the parents' gender. Then, parents were asked about their relations with their offspring in terms of conflict and communication by four open-ended questions:

(1) Could you think about the last conflict situation with your son/daughter?, Why did it happen?

(1b) This type of parent-child conflict situations happen often?, Why?

(2) Could you think about the last good communication situation with your son/daughter?, What was the topic?

(2b) This type of situations of good parent-child communication happen often?, Why?.

2. METHOD

➤ CODING OF THEMES AND ANALYSES:

Interviews were analyzed by the first and the third authors of the study.

This involved a line-by-line analysis of each interview in order to identify parents responses on the various topics of family conflict and communication. These topics were then grouped, categorized, and agreed between judges.

Finally, this categorization was presented to the whole research team who decided on the definitive system of coding.

3. RESULTS

Questions: (1b) This type of parent-child conflict situations happen often?, why?
(2b) This type of situations of good parent-child communication happen often?, why?.

Table 1. Numeric content analysis for family situations frequency

|                    | Family conflict |       | Family communication |       |
|--------------------|-----------------|-------|----------------------|-------|
|                    | Portugal        | Spain | Portugal             | Spain |
| Parents' responses |                 |       |                      |       |
| Yes                | 4               | 7     | 45                   | 23    |
| No                 | 14              | 14    | 1                    | 0     |
| Sometimes          | 10              | 3     | 6                    | 3     |
| Less than before   | 5               | 3     | -                    | -     |
| N/A                | 1               | 0     | -                    | -     |
| Total              | 34              | 27    | 52                   | 26    |

- Parents reported that, during emerging adulthood, conflict situations with their offspring do not happen anymore or occur less frequently compared with previous years. According to mothers and fathers, there is also a good communication with their offspring and they talk to each other frequently.

3. RESULTS

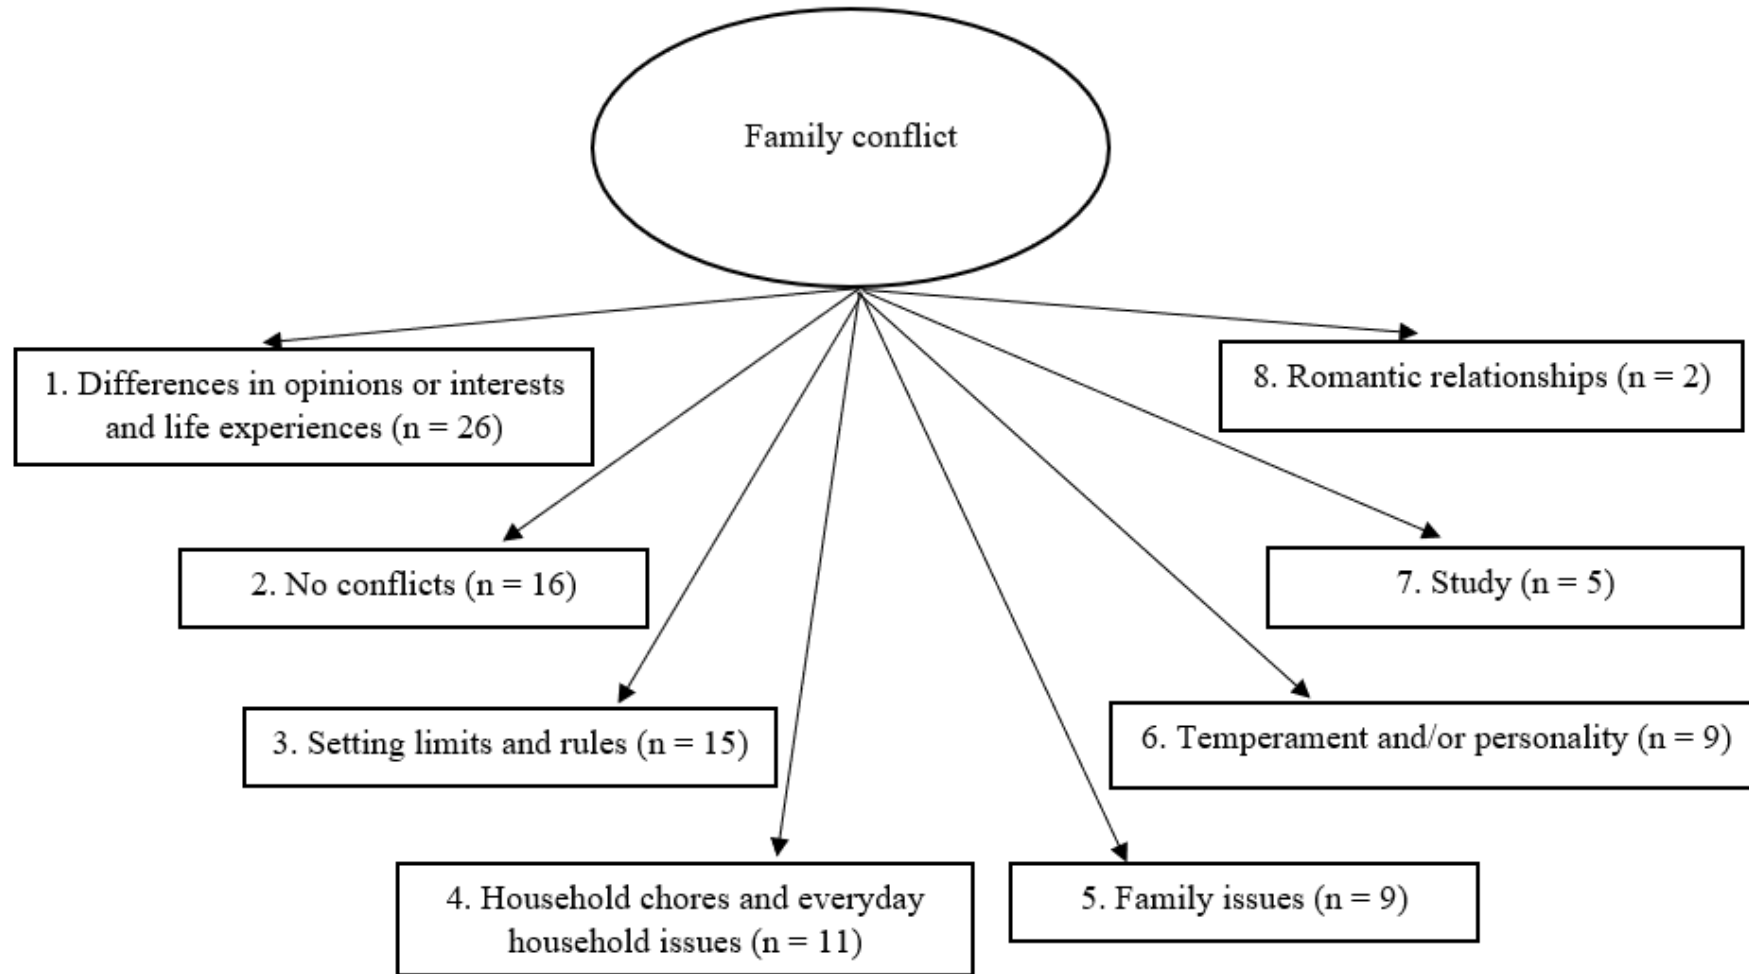

Figure 1. Thematic map for family conflict

3. RESULTS

FAMILY CONFLICT (PARENTS' RESPONSES EXAMPLES)

|                                                              |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Differences in opinions or interests and life experiences | Porque temos opiniões e pontos de vista diferentes [Because we have different views and opinions] (Portuguese mother)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 2. No conflicts                                              | No los tengo [I don't have them] (Spanish mother)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| 3. Setting limits and rules                                  | Se produziu por dormir fora de casa y no avisar [It was caused because of sleeping away from home and not giving notice] (Spanish mother)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 4. Household chores and everyday household issues            | Conflitos triviais, sem grandes consequências, sobre arrumação do quarto, organização de tarefas, esse tipo de coisa [Trivial conflicts, without major consequences, about tidying up the room, organizing chores, this type of things] (Portuguese father)                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 5. Family issues                                             | Disputas de espaço entre minha filha e minha mulher atual, que não é mãe da minha filha [Disputes between my daughter and my current wife, who is not my daughter's mother] (Portuguese father)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 6. Temperament and/or personality                            | Por capricho de ella, por ser muy cerrada en si misma [On a whim, because she is too closed in on herself] (Spanish mother)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 7. Study                                                     | No quería seguir estudiando [He/She didn't want to continue studying] (Spanish mother)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 8. Romantic relationships                                    | Relacionou-se com um colega que se apaixonou por ela e ela não sentia o mesmo por ele. A minha filha sentiu que eu o apoiava - erradamente - e entramos em conflito que se resolveu facilmente com diálogo [About a colleague who fell in love with her and she didn't feel the same. My daughter felt that I supported him - wrongly - and we got into a conflict that was easily resolved with dialogue] (Portuguese mother) |

3. RESULTS

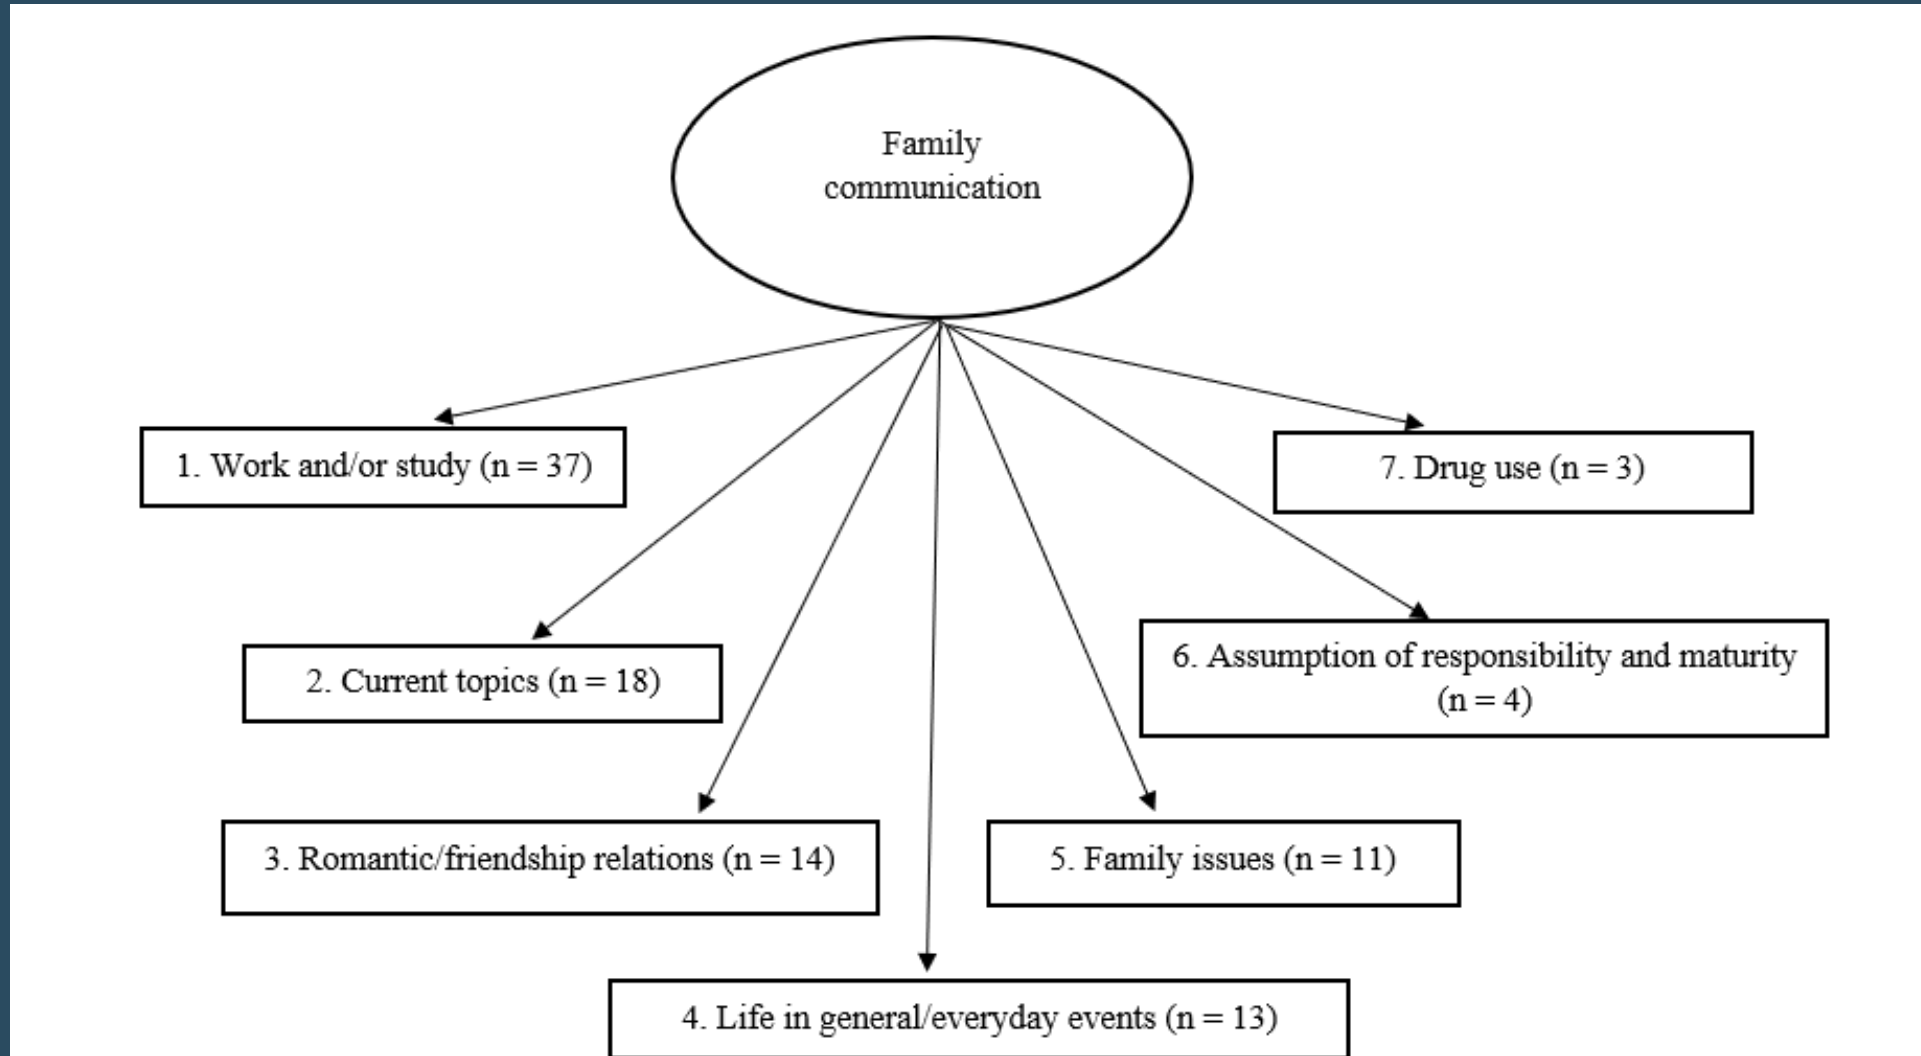

Figure 2. Thematic map for family communication

3. RESULTS

FAMILY COMMUNICATION (PARENTS' RESPONSES EXAMPLES)

|                                              |                                                                                                                                      |
|----------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Work and/or study                         | Traçar os objetivos que pretende com o curso académico [Outline the goals he/she wants from the academic course] (Portuguese father) |
| 2. Current topics                            | Sobre cine y literature [About cinema and literature] (Spanish father)                                                               |
| 3. Romantic/friendship relations             | La época en la que tuvo su primera relación amorosa [The time when she had her first love] (Spanish mother)                          |
| 4. Life in general/everyday events           | Assuntos do cotidiano. Amamos contar uns aos outros [Everyday matters. We love to tell each other] (Portuguese father)               |
| 5. Family issues                             | Hablamos de un miembro de la familia [We talked about a family member] (Spanish mother)                                              |
| 6. Assumption of responsibility and maturity | Autonomia. Sair da tutela dos pais [Autonomy. Leaving the parental custody] (Portuguese mother)                                      |
| 7. Drug use                                  | Hablamos sobre las adicciones [We talked about addictions] (Spanish mother)                                                          |

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

- The findings indicate that parent perceived a low rate of conflict in the relationships with their offspring:
  - 1) Low frequency of conflict reported by parents
  - 2) The second more frequent response (family conflict themes) was that they do not have conflicts with their offspring

Furthermore...

- The most frequent topics of conflict with emerging adult offspring concerned differences in opinions or interests and life experiences and setting limits and rules. Moreover, other frequent topics are household chores and everyday household issues, family issues and temperament and/or personality.

Previous work

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Already found medium or low levels of conflict in the parent-child relationships during emerging adulthood (e.g., Fang et al., 2021).

A possible
explanation...

- During emerging adulthood, parent-child relationships become more symmetrical than before (Arnett, 2018). In this sense, parents do not see their children as adolescents although they do not still view them as fully grown-up people (Nelson et al., 2007). Therefore, during these years maybe they give more freedom to their children and interfere to a lesser degree in issues that they believe are no longer their business. As a consequence, the number of conflicts between them would be reduced.
- Parents also indicate that the topic labeled differences in opinions or interests and life experiences is the topic that stimulate most conflict with their children, precisely, the one regarding different generational perspectives in beliefs, attitudes, and values between parents and children.

Moreover

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The majority of Spanish and Portuguese emerging adults are residentially dependent on their parents (e.g, Eurostat, 2023)

- Taking this into account, it is not a surprise that some of the most frequent topics of discrepancies with their emerging adults children mentioned by parents are regarding issues of cohabitation that only happen because of the residence in the family home (e. g., setting limits and rules or household chores and everyday household issues).

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

- The findings also revealed a high rate of communication and a wide range of topics conversations perceived by parents in the relationships with their emerging adult offspring.
- Specifically, parents revealed that work and/or study and current topics such as arts and lazer occupations and plans are the most frequent topics in the conversations with their children following by romantic/friendship relations, life in general/everyday events, family issues and less frequently assumption of responsibility and maturity and drug use.

The high level and quality communication that parent noted in their relationships with their offspring (high frequency conversations, diverse topics conversations) is consistent with previous studies (e.g., Morgan, 2008).

Moreover

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

Family role in Spain and Portugal is characterized by strong family bonds and greater family closeness and family support comparing with other socio-cultural context (Parra et al., 2019).

In this context...

- It is unusual for parents to talk to their children about a wide variety of topics (e.g., work or studies, literature or film, what is going on in their daily lives, romantic and friendship relations) and even about other traditionally taboo issues (e. g., drug use).
- So, the fact that family relations find a new equilibrium and become more symmetrical during emerging adulthood is reflected not only in the low conflict rate between parents and children, but also in the high level and quality communication between them and their mothers and fathers, at least according to the latter. These results point that, certainly, it is seems that a new pattern of interaction appears and helps to forge a more equal relationship between two adults generations.

4. DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

The present study is groundbreaking because it analyses family relationships during emerging adulthood from the parents' perspective. Research focused on parent's perspective has been globally understudied and even less in Southern Europe.

These findings offer a starting point for gaining insight about how parents understand the relationships with their children during this stage and helps to obtain a more complete picture of parent-child relationships during emerging adulthood in Spain and Portugal.

REFERENCES

CIPE2023
XI Congreso Internacional
de Psicología y Educación
Bienestar psicológico y digitalización: el gran reto de la Psicología hoy

- Alesina, A. and P. Giuliano, 2014, "Family Ties" in Aghion, P. and S. Durlauf (eds.), Handbook of Economic Growth, Vol. 2A, The Netherlands: North Holland, 177-215
- Arnett, J. J. (2000). Emerging adulthood: A theory of development from the late teens through the twenties. American Psychologist, 55(5), 469–480. <https://doi.org/469.10.1037/0003-066X.55.5.469>
- Arnett, J. J. (2007). Suffering, selfish, slackers? Myths and reality about emerging adults. Journal of Youth and Adolescence, 36(1), 23–29. <https://doi.org/10.1007/s10964-006-915>
- Arnett, J. J. (2014). Emerging adulthood: The winding road from the late teens through the twenties (2nd ed.). New York, NY: Oxford University Press
- Arnett, J. J., & Padilla-Walker, L. M. (2015). Brief report: Danish emerging adults' conceptions of adulthood. Journal of Adolescence, 38, 39–44. <https://doi.org/0.1016/j.adolescence.2014.10.011>
- Arnett, J.J. (2018). Adolescence and emerging adulthood: A cultural approach (6nd ed.). Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson.
- Fang, S., Galambos, N. L., & Johnson, M. D. (2021). Parent–child contact, closeness, and conflict across the transition to adulthood. Journal of Marriage and Family, 83(4), 1176-1193. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1111/jomf.12760>
- Kumar, S. A., & Mattanah, J. F. (2018). Interparental conflict, parental intrusiveness, and interpersonal functioning in emerging adulthood. Personal Relationships, 25(1), 120-133. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1111/per.12231>
- Laursen, B., & Collins, W. A. (2009). Parent-child relationships during adolescence. In R. M. Lerner & L. Steinberg (Eds.), Handbook of adolescent psychology (Vol. 2, 3rd ed., pp. 3–42). Wiley.
- Lefkowitz, E. S. (2005). "Things Have Gotten Better" Developmental Changes Among Emerging Adults After the Transition to University. Journal of adolescent research, 20(1), 40-63.
- Morgan, E. M. (2008). A longitudinal study of emerging adults' conversations with parents about sex and dating during college [Unpublished doctoral dissertation]. University of California, Santa Cruz.
- Morgan, E. M., Thorne, A., & Zurbriggen, E. L. (2010). A longitudinal study of conversations with parents about sex and dating during college. Developmental Psychology, 46(1), 139. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1037/a0016931>
- Nelson, L. J., Padilla-Walker, L. M., Carroll, J. S., Madsen, S. D., Barry, C. M., & Badger, S. (2007). "If you want me to treat you like an adult, start acting like one!" Comparing the criteria that emerging adults and their parents have for adulthood. Journal of Family Psychology, 21(4), 665–674. <https://doi.org/10.1037/0893-3200.21.4.66>

REFERENCES

CIPE2023
XI Congreso Internacional
de Psicología y Educación
Bienestar psicológico y digitalización: el gran reto de la Psicología hoy

- Munz, E. A. (2015). Parent–child communication. The International Encyclopedia of Interpersonal Communication, 1-5. <https://doi.org/10.1002/9781118540190.wbeic067>
- Pariera, K. L., & Brody, E. (2018). “Talk more about it”: Emerging adults’ attitudes about how and when parents should talk about sex. Sexuality Research and Social Policy, 15, 219-229. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1007/s13178-017-0314-9>
- Parra, A., Oliva, A., & Reina, M. D. C. (2015). Family relationships from adolescence to emerging adulthood: A longitudinal study. Journal of Family Issues, 36(14), 2002-2020. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1177/0192513X13507570>
- Parra, Á., Sánchez-Queija, I., García-Mendoza, M. C., Coimbra, S., Egídio Oliveira, J., & Díez, M. (2019). Perceived parenting styles and adjustment during emerging adulthood: A cross-national perspective. International journal of environmental research and public health, 16(15), 2757. <https://doi.org/10.3390/ijerph16152757>
- Renk, K., Roddenberry, A., Oliveros, A., Roberts, R., Meehan, C., & Liljequist, L. (2007). An examination of conflict in emerging adulthood between college students and their parents. Journal of Intergenerational Relationships, 4(4), 43-61. http://dx.doi.org/10.1300/J194v04n04\_04
- Riesch, S. K., Jackson, N. M., & Chanchong, W. (2003). Communication approaches to parent-child conflict: Young adolescence to young adult. Journal of pediatric nursing, 18(4), 244-256. http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/S0882-5963\(03\)00083-600083-6)
- Shapiro, A. (2004). Revisiting the generation gap: Exploring the relationships of parent/adult-child dyads. International Journal of Aging & Human Development, 58(2), 127-146. <https://doi.org/10.2190/EVFK-7F2X-KQNV-DH58>
- Statistical Office of the European Union (Eurostat) (2023). Estimated average age of young people leaving the parental household by sex. Products Datasets. Luxembourg: Publications Office of the European Union
- Yao, Y., Jia, G., Lin, P. M., & Huang, J. (2020). Young adult children traveling with parents: Insights on conflict and its causes. Journal of Travel & Tourism Marketing, 37(6), 727–738. <https://doi.org/10.1080/10548408.2020.1812470>
- Whiteman, S. D., McHale, S. M., & Crouter, A. C. (2011). Family relationships from adolescence to early adulthood: Changes in the family system following firstborns' leaving home. Journal of Research on Adolescence, 21(2), 461-474. <http://dx.doi.org/10.1111/j.1532-7795.2010.00683.x>

THANK YOU VERY MUCH FOR YOUR ATTENTION!

Mari Carmen García Mendoza, P.h.D

E-mail: mgarcia142@us.es

Web: <http://grupos.us.es/transadultez/index.php?page=index-ing>

Twitter: @adultezemergen

U. PORTO

FACULDADE DE PSICOLOGIA
E DE CIÊNCIAS DA EDUCAÇÃO
UNIVERSIDADE DO PORTO

CIPE 2023

XI Congreso Internacional
de Psicología y Educación

Bienestar psicológico y digitalización: el gran reto de la Psicología hoy

VALENCIA | 26 – 28 junio 2023